When Hunt came to Owosso there was only one price for butter. A woman who took extra pains and made nice butter was obliged to sell it for the same price as some other woman received who made poor butter. Now things have changed and the woman who makes extra fancy butter will get an extra price for it at his store.

Now another thing—His customers can come to town and take their butter and eggs into his store with the assurance that he will always take it and pay the very highest market price. They don't have to run all around town to other stores to see what it is worth. Nine out of ten of the good butter makers of the county sell their butter to him.

Uncle Sam's Business in Owosso.

Charles Lawrence, agent of the United States government in the postoffice business in Owosso, has made for us a summary of the business done by him and under his direction at the Owosso office during the past year, and it furnishes food for considerable study when one thinks that every stamp, postal card or envelope sold must in the end be handled singly a number of times here and on its way to its destination, and must be handled with that almost positive accuracy for which the department is noted, more accurate in fact than the work of our great financial institutions.

The number of one cent stamps sold was 86,092; the number of two cent stamps 435,708; three cent 1,288; four cent 1,749; five cent 1,911; six cent 1,927; eight cent 710; ten cent 1,188; special delivery 643; newspaper stamps 3,229; postage-due stamps 2,976; one cent postal cards 94,139; two cent postal cards 348; stamped envelopes 372,580; total number of pieces of all kinds 1,043,880; number of registered letters passed through the office 4,478; special deliveries made 485; domestic money orders sold 7,197, amounting to $31,996.27; money orders paid 5,213, amounting to $33,570.13; total of money order business $65,566.40.

The gross receipts of the office outside of money orders were $17,197.20. The cost of running the Owosso office is about $10,000, leaving a profit to the government of about $7,000.

The number of mails received is 23 on six days and two on Sunday. There are 21 mails sent out each day, excepting Sunday. Mailing clerk H. P. White is one of the busiest officials in the office and has handled as high as 15,000 pieces of outgoing mail in a day—with such accuracy that he has become known as one of the best mailing clerks in the state.

The office is in most excellent condition and the first year's work of Mr. Lawrence will take high rank in the history of the office. The office is conducted in a way to please the people and it is appreciated.

To facilitate the work of the office and to relieve Postmaster Lawrence, who frequently puts in 15 hours daily at the office, the postoffice department on Friday last, at the request of Senator McMillan, issued an order for the appointment of an additional clerk at a salary of $300 per year. Bruce Bartlett, who was employed in the office for several years, has been given the position and will begin work tomorrow.

3 Great Bills...

The three greatest bills in the world today are Bill McKinley, the McKinley Bill and the Dollar Bill. Bill McKinley made the McKinley Bill, the McKinley Bill made Bill McKinley, and we trust that Bill McKinley will make a few Dollar Bills for all of us.

We believe that better times are at hand for everybody.

True, hard times for most everybody else have been a benefit for us indirectly, for it has made them look for a big dollar's worth, where in good times, force of habit might have kept them trading at their old places. We never let a person go who once trades at our stores. When a man comes here first he comes because he can buy something cheap. The next time he comes it is because his first purchase wore well and he comes for something good.

Our New Suits for Men at . . .
